

Self-Serve Subscription Agreement

Last Updated March 8th, 2023

This Self-Serve Subscription Agreement (“Agreement”) governs the use of Netlify’s software, solutions and services (“Netlify Services”) to build, deploy, host, and manage web projects.

By clicking on the “Create Account” button (or any similar button) that is presented to you at the time of sign-up or by using or accessing the Netlify Services (“Order”), you indicate that you agree to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, and that will also be the effective date of this Agreement (“Effective Date”).

You will be referred to in this Agreement as either “you” or “Customer.” If you are entering into this Agreement on behalf of a company, organization or another legal entity, you are agreeing to this Agreement for that entity and representing that you have the authority to bind such entity to this Agreement, in which case the terms “Customer” or “you” will refer to such entity. If you do not have such authority, or if you do not agree with this Agreement, you must not accept this Agreement and must not use the Netlify Services.

In appropriate cases, Netlify will enter into a written Enterprise Subscription Agreement with the Customer which will govern instead of this Agreement.

A valid Netlify account may only be created and maintained by a Customer who provides valid information about the Customer in the signup process. To maintain a valid account, the Customer must regularly update such information to assure its accuracy. Netlify reserves the right to terminate any account that does not include a valid email address on file.

Please be aware, however, that if the domain of the email address associated with your account is owned or controlled by an entity and Netlify has now or in the future a direct subscription agreement with such entity, your account may be rolled into and consolidated with that organization’s account after notification to you. Following notice to you, if you choose not to change the email address associated with your account, your account will be controlled by the entity.
